508 Washington Street in Cumberland, Allegany County, stands on the south side of the street and is included within the boundaries of the Washington Street Historic District.

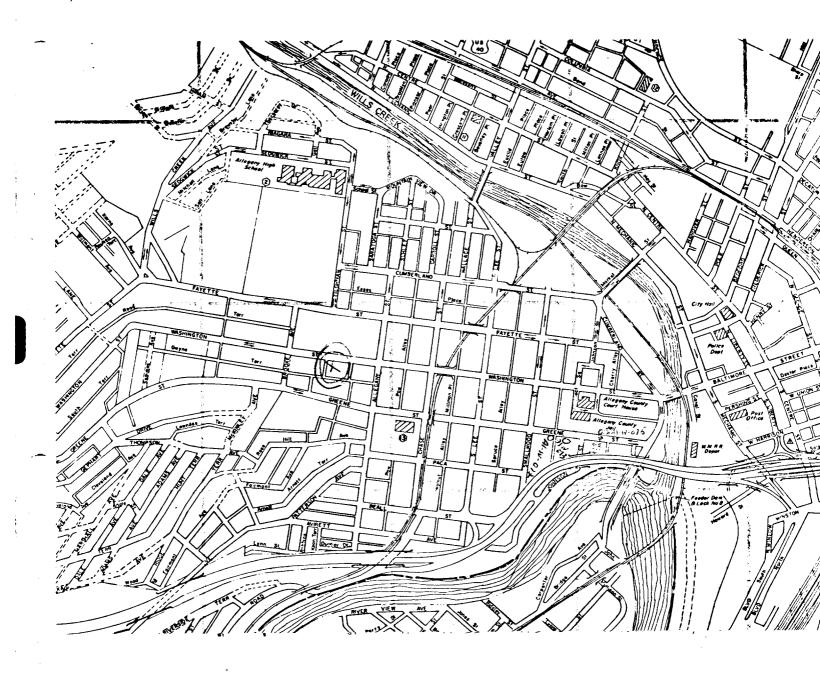

The house is a circa 1870 brick Italinate structure, two and a half stories high, with a low pitch bracketed roof. It consists of two perpendicularly placed rectangular forms with a three story tower placed at the junction of the two sections. The principal windows - double-hung wooden sashes with two-over-two lights and round arches - have flat hood moldings. A one story porch with iron posts (recent additions) stretches across the front of the tower and the eastern section. The west section has a one story three bay window on the first floor of the front.

The house is structurally sound. With the exception of the replaced porch posts, the principal facade (north side) is basically unaltered.

For additional descriptive material, see the Deal paper on file at the Maryland Historical Trust, Annapolis, Maryland.
